About the Energy Alliance of Australia

The Energy Alliance is not-for-profit and apolitical. Operating in a low-key way it fills a vacuum in energy policy-making in Australia by enabling energy industry stakeholders to collaborate on the major issues that impact on the total energy value chain.

During 2009 the Energy Alliance ...

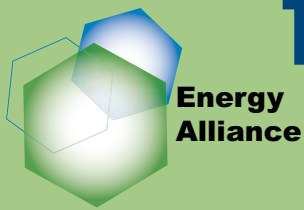

- contributed to the Energy White Paper
- prepared a number of key papers
 - Financing the Australian Energy Sector 2009 – The Impact of Climate Policy and the Global Credit Crunch
 - Energy Policy and Climate Policy Must be Integrated;
 - Climate Finance Falls Short (a paper for the G20 on climate policy)
- liaised with the APEC Energy Working Group on international energy policy issues
- attended several bilateral government-to-government meetings with Australia's major trading partners
